

Peer reviews (MVP)

Team Hacktrack: George Ezenna, Kairat Ashim, Eric Manzi, Favyen Bastani

George

George designed and wrote a code for the view of the app. The design for MVP was sufficient, but for final implementation certain parts can be improved, such as colors, menu and button design, upvote and favorite buttons on the home page. There was one confusion when George had to change design of the project page, when I already had implemented and hooked up the controller to the page, but it was resolved with some minor changes.

Eric

Eric worked on User model and did a good job implementing it. He was also very prompt with submitting the documents for the team and filling out the forms.

Favyen

Favyen implemented posting and commenting functionality. Favyen had a different idea about the purpose of the app than the rest of the team until we were revising the data model. The purpose of the app Favyen had in mind was similar to the Github, but that wasn't what the rest of the team had in mind. The confusion was resolved in time and didn't affect the implementation process.
